TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung has ordered Red China's army forces to be alert for possible anti-Chinese moves, especially along the Soviet-Chinese border in the west, Red Guard wall posters in Peking said today.

The Japanese Kyodo news service carried the report in a dispatch from Peking. It said Mao was quoted as specifically mentioning the province of Sinkiang which borders on the Soviet Union. Chinese air and land forces have recently been increased there Kyodo reported.

Kyodo said wall posters put up by the Peking people's commune Red Guards reported Mao's orders had gone out to 13 military district commanders.

At the same time Peking radio said Communist China's premier and foreign minister assailed Soviet leaders at a huge rally in Peking and that later 100,000 persons staged a demonstration outside the Soviet Embassy.

The broadcast said supporters of Chairman Mao Tse-tung gathered to denounce "fascist violence by Soviet revisionists" and to support a Chinese protest against Soviet demonstrations at the Chinese Embassy in Moscow.

It was probably the largest anti-Soviet demonstration staged in Peking since daily demonstrations started late last month. Slogans called for "solidarity between the Chinese and Soviet peoples to overthrow the Soviet revisionist leading clique." Chinese term for the Kremlin's leaders.

Premier Chou En-lai told the rally the "Soviet revisionist leading group does not represent the Soviet masses." He said a distinction must be made between the Soviet people and their leaders.

Earlier in the day, Radio Peking said the Foreign Ministry filed a second protest with the Soviet government, warning that unless anti-Chinese demonstrations are stopped in Moscow, the Soviet Embassy in Peking may have to bear grave consequences. The consequences were not spelled out.

The protest concerned four days of Soviet demonstrations at the Chinese Embassy in Moscow Feb. 6-9 and charged that Soviet leaders sent "hooligans" to break into the embassy.

Chinese Red Guards have demonstrated at the Soviet Embassy in Peking continuously since Jan. 26 against alleged mistreatment of Chinese students and diplomats in Moscow.

There were no demonstrations at the Chinese Embassy in Moscow Friday, apparently because

At Soviet Border

Both nations have demanded that the other ensure the safety of the personnel of their embassies and the conditions necessary for their work.

Another aspect of the freeze in relations between the two Communist giants is the scrapping of an agreement permitting travel between them without visas.

In Moscow, a Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman confirmed that starting Sunday Chinese citizens must have visas to enter the Soviet Union.

The Chinese accused the Russians of unilaterally breaking the agreement and retaliating by requiring Soviet citizens to obtain Chinese entry, exit and transit visas.

Radio Peking said revolutionary workers, peasants, soldiers and students attended the rally today, including the Chinese students who were said to have been injured by Soviet police during the incident in Moscow's Red Square last month.

Other reports from Peking by Japanese newsmen, quoting wall posters, said Defense Minister Lin Biao has ordered all troops roving around the country in what is called "exchanges of experiences" on the cultural revolution, to return to their barracks by Feb. 20.

The order applied also to students of military schools, workers at plants turning out military supplies and other bodies connected with the army.

Lin's orders to troops to get back to their units was coupled with another Japanese report from Peking that the regular army had taken over all Chinese civil aviation facilities, including airports and the civil aviation institutes.

The report said the move was issued "to prepare for war" but did not indicate what was meant by the phrase.

There were these other developments:

— Peking wall posters Friday said "white terror" was spreading through Inner Mongolia, where soldiers beat up large numbers of Mao's followers.

— Peking radio said anti-Maoists in Changhai were still resisting the Mao line by engaging in speculation at food markets in an effort to throw the city's economy into confusion.

— Chinese travelers arriving in Hong Kong said older and better trained Red Guards have been moved to Canton, possibly indicating Mao is about ready to seize control of Canton and Kwangtung Province.

Help Sought For Victims Of City Fire

Provost Home Hit Friday By Flames Ignited By Furnace

An appeal for clothing and furniture has been issued on behalf of a city family of seven left homeless Friday afternoon when fire swept their seven-room house, destroying most of their possessions.

An overheated furnace was blamed for the blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Provost of 1215 Riverview St. about 3:30.

The Area Red Cross issued an appeal for aid for the family, which spent Friday night with relatives in Chester. Red Cross officials said an apartment has been located for the Provosts.

Firemen from the Central and Northside stations, dispatched to the home at 3:31, said the flooring ignited at the one-story structure and the flames had spread to the walls by the time they arrived.

Provost was not in the city yesterday, having gone to Napoleon, Ohio, in order to find work after a recent injury.

His wife, Mrs. Delores Provost, told investigators she had left the home at 2 p. m. to buy groceries.

Four of their five children were in school when the fire broke out. An older daughter was away at Ohio State University.

Damage to the building alone was set at about $6,000. Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne said.

The Red Cross yesterday was notified when it was learned that most of the clothing owned by the family had been destroyed.

A neighbor of the Provosts, Mrs. James Nottingham of 721 North St., said this morning the two daughters, aged 17 and 14, and the two boys, 17 and 15, all need clothing.

Mrs. Nottingham may be reached at 386-6426 or 385-1406.

The 10-year-old boy is reportedly a diabetic and lost his necessary insulin and syringes in the blaze.

Firemen returned to the site at 6:45 last night when the house reignited, but quickly quelled the blaze.

Assistant Chief Frank Butler said he and Fire Chief VanDyne will return to the scene today in order to place an estimate of the total damage.

The building is owned by Louis Provost of Wellsville, John's father. Reportedly the building is insured, but its contents are not.

City Plan Rejected Midland Spurns Tax Reciprocity

East Liverpool residents employed at Midland apparently have lost, at least temporarily, an anticipated 33 per cent saving on municipal income taxes paid in the two communities because Midland has declined to accept a reciprocal agreement initiated in an East Liverpool ordinance enacted in December.

D. G. Wilkinson, city income tax commissioner, said he received the word Friday afternoon from City Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, who had conferred with Frank Suffoletta, Midland's solicitor.

SUFFOLETTA told Cooper that the Borough of Midland will not agree to the reciprocity East Liverpool attempted to establish in an amendment to the local income tax ordinance that went into effect Jan. 1, Wilkinson reported.

Each community has an income tax of eight-tenths of 1 per cent. The ordinance said, in effect, that residents of one community employed in the other would pay the full amount of the tax in their home towns and nothing in the community where they work.

Under the former arrangement, East Liverpool residents employed at Midland paid a full eight-tenths of 1 per cent in Midland and four-tenths in East Liverpool. They were given credit here for 50 per cent of the tax assessed in Midland.

The effect of the reciprocal agreement — if it had been implemented — would have been to save East Liverpool residents four-tenths of 1 per cent on their total tax payment. Their total tax liability would have been eight-tenths of 1 per cent, as against eight-tenths in Midland and four-tenths in East Liverpool.

By the same figuring, East Liverpool would have collected 50 per cent more than formerly from each of its residents employed in Midland.

WILKINSON said East Liverpool's tax office still is operating under the provisions of the reciprocity ordinance. It still "forgives" the full amount of the tax that would be charged against Midland residents employed here, he said.

He said the East Liverpool ordinance was enacted to take advantage of the Pennsylvania Tax Enabling Act of 1965. He

Many Leap Safely Into Firemen Nets During Joliet Blaze

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — A fast-spreading blaze swept through a Joliet hotel today killing six guests.

Nine other persons were injured, three critically.

Fire officials said flames engulfed the two-story brick building housing the Grand Hotel in downtown Joliet when the first firemen arrived shortly after 3 a. m.

The 27-room hotel was on the second floor. The first floor was used as an auto parts supply store.

Firemen rescued more than 15 persons trapped by flames. Many leaped from windows into nets held by fire fighters.

Witnesses reported a young woman, identified by police as Virginia Popay, 18, her clothes aflame, leaped through a closed window to an alleyway. She was reported in critical condition with burns over 50 per cent of her body.

Lisbon Youth Burned In Flash Fuel Blaze

LISBON — John Bailey, 19, of Grant St., burned by a gasoline flash fire Friday evening while working on a car, is in "fairly good" condition today at Salem City Hospital with first- and second-degree burns of the face and left hand.

Volunteer firemen who took him to the hospital in the department ambulance about 5:20 said the gasoline ignited as Bailey was pouring it into a carburetor.

The four basic aims include advising the board of education, improving communication between the board and the community, assisting in implementing school programs and studying and evaluating education.

Membership will include a delegate from each civic or service group along with members-at-large, plus the superintendent of schools, who would not have a vote.

There is to be a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. The major work

17 Americans Killed, 126 Wounded

Full-Scale Allied Operations Due When Present Viet Truce Ends

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. military authorities announced today that 17 Americans have been killed and 126 wounded in the battle-scarred lunar new year truce.

During the same period — from the beginning of the truce

U Thant Appeals For Extended Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-general U Thant has made an appeal for "an indefinite and unconditional extension" of the lunar new year cease-fire in Vietnam.

In a statement issued Friday night, Thant also called for "an unconditional end" to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. He expressed belief that both steps would help bring about peace talks.

at 8 a. m. Wednesday to 4 p. m. Friday — U.S. and allied forces reported killing 92 of the enemy and detaining 53, authorities said.

There seemed to be little doubt that the allies would resume full-scale operations when the four-day truce declared by the Saigon government ends at 7 a. m. Sunday, Vietnam time, despite the Viet Cong's proclaimed truce that would continue until Wednesday morning.

Allied troops moved from the defense to the offense and U.S. bombers began fresh air strikes over North Vietnam within hours after two-day truces for Christmas and New Years Day. There was no indication this would not be repeated Sunday. Numerous world leaders have appealed for an indefinite cease-fire as an avenue toward peace talks.

The allies reported Friday that there had been 332 guerrilla-initiated incidents so far and listed 83 as "significant." None was characterized as a violation of the truce however.

Among the significant incidents listed by the American authorities were 40 brief engagements in which U.S. or allied units suffered light casualties, and a seven-hour battle on the first day of the truce when a company of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade suffered moderate casualties.

More than half of the 17 American dead reported by the U.S. spokesman were believed to have resulted from this fight on the fringe of War Zone D 20 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. spokesman said that the American casualties of 17 dead and 126 wounded were higher than for either the Christmas or New Year's Day truce. He declined to release the figures for those two-day truces, however.

An American spokesman said there was a marked decrease in the supply buildup as reported Friday from U.S. Navy ships patrolling off the North Vietnamese coast and American planes that have continued reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam.

It was announced Friday that hundreds of junks, barges and trucks were shuttling supplies south toward the buffer zone that separates the two Vietnams. American sources said later the huge supply buildup created a threat that could not be overlooked and it appeared possible that American bombing raids over North Vietnam might resume before the Saigon-decreed truce ends Sunday.

A U.S. spokesman said today, that the North Vietnamese traffic had become "considerably lighter." He said some craft were observed sailing north, apparently after they had discharged their cargo, and others were being unloaded.

There was no stipulation in the truce declarations prohibiting supply missions. Both pledged only that they would not undertake offensive operations.

Although American sources said the North Vietnamese supply buildup "creates doubts as to North Vietnamese sincerity about the truce," the U.S. Air Force announced it had moved some 6,828 passengers and 2,229 tons of cargo on normal resupply missions in South Vietnam Friday.

Bombing Halt First, North Viet Repeats

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam reiterated today that peace talks could take place only after an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing "and other acts of war" against the north.

The Communist Vietnam News Agency also reaffirmed that President Ho Chi Minh had invited President Johnson to meet him in Hanoi.

Vice Premier Nguyen Duy Trinh originally laid down the North Vietnamese condition for talks in an interview Jan. 28 with Australian Communist journalist Wilfred Burchett.

VNA said Nguyen restated the condition in a recent interview for Japanese television.

Again Disclaims Higher Office Rhodes Offers Viewpoint At Impromptu Discourse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Representatives from a dozen states heard an impromptu 90-minute discourse on government, philosophy and politics from Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes Friday.

It ended with Rhodes once again disclaiming interest in national office at present and calling his current office "the best job in the nation."

Rhodes made an unscheduled appearance at what started as a question-and-answer session to wind up an industrial development seminar his administration sponsored for representatives of other states.

Rhodes advised those attending: "Your programs will be just as good as your governor makes them."

Then he ranged over topics like:

— Dealing with department heads — "When you're in the saddle, ride tall, or they'll ride over you. Don't try to run the department. It's a team effort."

— Doctrine and ideology — "Stay away from ideologies. People don't care what I think of some issues. We stick to the bread-and-butter issues. Be pro-

Treaty Talk Split Blamed On Argentina

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A post-midnight meeting of the commission preparing a treaty to make Latin America a nuclear-free zone broke up without agreement after 45 minutes this morning. Many delegates had thought an accord was in sight.

Most delegates blamed Argentina, which demanded that a resolution be inserted in the commission's minutes expressing solidarity against "extracontinental powers that make illegal claims" on territory of Latin American nations.

Argentina apparently was seeking some kind of advantage in its dispute with Britain over the Falkland Islands off its east coast. They have been under British control for more than a century.

Garcia Robles said he still hoped that the treaty would be ready for signing early next week.

War I Group Has Meeting

COLUMBIANA — Carl Sheets, an Air Force captain enroute from Fulda, Germany, to a new assignment in Saigon, was a luncheon guest of the World War I Veterans of Columbiana County Thursday at the Kimberly Recreation Center here. He is the son of Ross Sheets of Columbiana.

President Harry H. Ferrall of Leetonia R. D. 2 said 75 attended and made plans for a chartered bus trip to the Cleveland-Baltimore baseball game July 29 at Cleveland.

Harry Lundgren of Columbiana gave an illustrated talk on his trip to Europe in 1965.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Vern Huntington of East Fairfield and Ralph Heck of East Palestine, who died since the last meeting Jan. 12. Chaplain Samuel J. Dobson of East Liverpool gave the invocation.

The group sang birthday greetings to Ross Sheets, Ray Bloor of East Liverpool, Harry Wilkinson of Washingtonville, Ross Fox of Lisbon and William Mauch and Howard Townsend, both of Boardman.

Delmont Weikart of Leetonia, Elwyn Shenkel of East Liverpool and Clarence Sprott and Elmer J. Riehl, both of Columbiana, served as chorists for the singing of World War I songs.

Ferrall said the group is continuing the collection of old eyeglasses, sunglasses, jewelry and cigarette lighters to send to the Soldiers Relief Commission in Cleveland.

He said he has sent 50 pounds of material already. People with material to donate may turn it over to John W. Barrett and Earl R. Bole, both of East Liverpool; Tom Cusick and Albert P. Morris, both of Salem; Ace Hardware and Theron's Country Store in Columbiana, and Ray Fisher of Columbiana, president of the Northeast Ohio Senior Citizens Council.

The next dinner meeting will be at 12:30 p. m. March 9 at Locust Grove Church on Route 165, north of Columbiana.

Within Sight Of California's Capitol

Sacramento Slums To Be 'Gold Rush' Re-Creation

By DEREK SCHOEN Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO — Within sight of California's Capitol, drunken derelicts sprawl in the shadow of buildings that stood when 49ers pried the Sierra foothills for gold.

Flophouses, bars and bottle shops where cheap wine is the biggest seller occupy structures which once housed grand hotels and restaurants that catered to the state's richest and most powerful men.

Three men, unkempt and destitute, doze in the same doorway from which William Hamilton emerged 106 years before with a pouch full of mail, and spurring his horse, set off on the first ride of the fabled Pony Express.

This is Old Sacramento, an area reduced by urban renewal to a two-by-four block section, that — on a square foot basis — holds its own with the nation's worst skid rows.

FOR YEARS the heart of young Sacramento, then later its most obvious urban sore, Old Sacramento — what oldtimers call the West End — may yet play another role in the city's and state's history.

Ambitious plans are completed, and federal help seems assured, for a plan to convert the remaining 28 acres of the city's oldest section into a Williamsburg-like historical monument.

"Our consultants predict that 2½ million people a year will visit Old Sacramento when it's been totally restored," says Robert E. Roche, acting executive director and project manager for the Sacramento Redevelopment Agency, moving force behind the program.

Visiting the area now, it's hard to visualize people thronging to Old Sacramento.

Weather

Weather Bureau officials. The storm, which brought snow in the Rockies and adjacent plains and showers in the lower Mississippi Valley, may spread across the Gulf Coast and head northward up the Atlantic Coast.

The blizzard in the Northeast Tuesday was blamed for 83 deaths and cost millions of dollars in business losses and snow removal expenses.

The snowstorm two days later dumped up to 14 inches in Atlantic City, N.J., as the storm hit hardest the New Jersey shore and southern and eastern Virginia. Five inches fell in South Carolina and two inches slicked highways in northern Alabama and Georgia. Nearly a foot of snow was reported in Maryland shore counties. New York City, digging out from Tuesday's accumulation of more than a foot of snow, escaped with only two inches.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The world's largest telescope is located on Mt. Palomar, Calif. It has a 200-inch reflector. A telescope reflector is a concave mirror, usually made of Pyrex and coated with either silver or aluminum. Light rays hit the reflector and are then directed to the upper end of the telescope where they are magnified and observed through an eye-piece.

close no hint of former greatness to the untrained eye. Police vans visit the area three times daily — oftener on week-ends — hauling away belligerent or sodden drunks.

A route for a new freeway has cut a wide swath through the old section, leaving piles of rubble in its wake. The highway builders razed such historic structures as the building where California's "Big Four" — Leland Stanford, Mark Hopkins, C. P. Huntington and Charles Crocker — made final plans for their Central Pacific Railroad.

Fires, often caused by the transients who seek shelter in the vacant ruins, have claimed other famous buildings. A recent casualty was the Sam Brannan store, built by the opportunistic merchant credited with starting the gold rush.

HISTORIANS say that when gold was found near Coloma, Brannan raced to San Francisco, where he ran through the streets shouting of the discovery. Would-be prospectors flowed into Sacramento, many to buy panning utensils sagely stocked by Brannan before his San Francisco trip.

But 36 buildings predating 1875 remain and these form the core of the redevelopment agency's plans.

The agency either will restore or replace these structures, then sell them to private interests, or require present owners to revamp them to agency standards. All other buildings will be demolished and the land sold to private developers.

Roche says final plans call for each site to have a building nearly identical to the original structures. Where the buildings have disappeared, the agency is working from old lithographs to assure accuracy.

CARS will be barred from the project area except for a road along the Sacramento River, on Old Sacramento's western edge.

Sidewalks and streets will duplicate the past. Gas lamps will replace electric street lights. The city has even agreed tentatively to outfit policemen who patrol the area in authentic 19th Century uniforms.

Total cost of the restoration is estimated at $30 million. The agency has applied for a $12.5 million federal housing development grant and a $20.5 million federal loan.

The state legislature already has approved expenditure of $12 million in state bond funds for acquisition of nine of the area's 28 acres.

Roche says properties to be acquired and rebuilt by the redevelopment agency will be used for banks, offices and shops. Plans are to use upper stories for 200 to 300 apartment units, he adds, "to keep the area alive, peopled at night."

HELPING to inspire the concept is the success of private pioneers in the area's redevelopment. Three brothers purchased an old firehouse six years ago, converted it into an elegant restaurant that today is among Sacramento's best known.

"They showed the way," says Fred Heitfield, a member of the Sacramento Historic Landmark Commission, a citizens group supporting the redevelopment. "They showed that old buildings can be as important as antiques — and just as valuable, too."

Roche believes the project is eight to 10 years from completion. If a single developer were interested in buying up most of the land, it could be finished sooner, he says.

Meanwhile vagrants and alcoholics continue to cluster on the street corners of Old Sacramento — just seven blocks from the gold-domed Capitol — gazing at passersby with rheumy eyes, apparently unaware that the ruins they haunt also are haunted by history.

Debate Held At Lions Club

A debate was conducted on the question, "Resolved, that the foreign aid policy of the United States should be limited to non-military assistance," by four East Liverpool High School junior students during the Lions Club luncheon meeting Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

The students were accompanied by Frank Moss, high school English teacher.

Presenting the affirmative point of view were Mac Ogilvie and Dale Jones, with Dan Dupont and William Hopper debating the negative side.

The histories of various foreign aid programs including the lend-lease program, the Marshall Plan and Truman Doctrine — were reviewed.

The purposes of military aid and its effects on various governments around the world were debated, the negative speakers citing the need to "stop Communist aggression" and the affirmative speakers cautioning of the dangers of supporting "military governments which may stifle social progress."

Various public figures, including Robert S. McNamara, Dean Rusk and Sens. J. William Fulbright and Wayne Morse, were quoted.

Moss explained the procedure for judging at tournaments.

Austen Moore was program chairman.

Ernest Lowe announced that the first minstrel practice will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

Invocation was given by the Rev. E. C. Traylor.

Ed Shingler presided.

Some 150 attended the children's service at the Covenant United Presbyterian Church, with $14 collected. Mrs. Dora Du Moulin was accompanist. The services were sponsored by the Council of United Church Women of Wellsville.

Midland had "forgiven" a $56 charge in the Pennsylvania community.

Wilkinson reminded that all individual estimates on 1967 income must be filed by April 15.

Wilkinson commented that court action probably would be required to attempt to force Midland officials to honor the reciprocity which East Liverpool attempted to establish by unilateral action.

He said any individual in East Liverpool who is affected by the Midland action could file suit, probably in a federal court, seeking to restrain the borough from collecting the tax.

"The result of this action on the part of the Borough of Midland simply means that residents of East Liverpool employed in Midland will be required to resort to court action in order to receive credits due them under the present Pennsylvania law," he said.

Schools

EDC was intended to have a broader base in the community, a greater representation of all elements of the school district than the Citizens for Better Schools.

Asked about his opinion of the organization, Assistant Supt. Carl Pelini said there is a need for better communication between the schools and administration and the community, and he believes the EDC could be helpful.

He cautioned, however, that some problems might arise, saying there are some aspects of board of education areas which would not be proper for general knowledge — such as teacher evaluations — and unless these were understood, there could be resentment.

So far as assisting the schools, he added, there is certainly a need.

Other functions of the EDC and the most convenient meeting dates were discussed. The session lasted 45 minutes.

The Lincoln Image

This is the 158th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth.

Lincoln was never as homespun as he looked and sounded.

He turned his image as a country lawyer to good account in his public career. There was ready acceptance for that image in his ascendant years.

People liked the idea of native shrewdness, earthy talk and a background of poverty.

They relished the thought that the movers and shakers in government had been born in log cabins and toughened in their formative years by poverty.

Lincoln embodied everything politically saleable in politics in the mid-19th century.

As the shadow of this "greatest American" lengthens, it becomes more tempting to wonder what became of the Lincoln image.

How would another Abraham Lincoln fare in politics today?

His poverty and lack of polish would be held against him by the sophisticates.

The effete East would belittle him for his manners.

Spokesmen for The establishment would undermine his prestige with innuendoes and jokes.

Advocates of the slavery of inferiors would mark him for social and political extermination.

People who had learned they could not control him would peck relentlessly at his status, striving to bring him down to their level.

Another Lincoln would run the same obstacle course that broke the original Lincoln's heart and ended his life prematurely at the gun-end of a frustrated hot-head.

Is that what happened to the Lincoln image? Are Political figures afraid of looking like "Honest Abe"?

No Gift - - A Guarantee

Turning over the deed to East Liverpool High School and Memorial Auditorium to Kent State University on the surface may be termed a gift to Kent, but the transaction is much more significant than that.

Rather than a gift to the university, the transfer of the buildings is a change of custody, which should mean a considerable benefit to the East Liverpool area in the way of higher education.

Use of the school property by Kent, possibly in 1968, would permit consolidation of the university center's classes and administrative offices and facilitate the day-and-night operations.

With the Carnegie Library, the proposed Pottery Museum, the nearby YMCA, Mary Patterson Memorial and other developments, a true cultural center could take form as envisaged in the East Liverpool "master plan" for the E. 4th St. - Broadway area.

The establishment of the Kent center here already has proven of incalculable value to the district's young people and to the cultural atmosphere of the city.

Further development of the center and possible creation of a permanent campus would prove an even greater value to our youth and serve as a spur to the progress of the area.

The property change is less of a gift to Kent than a guarantee by the community of its solid link with the university and a pledge to provide a broadening education for tomorrow's students.

'Jump No. 2'

The second annual "Jump" program will get under way here next Wednesday.

Sponsored by local churches of various denominations — this year seven in all — its objective again is to provide a comprehensive look at municipal problems and to become better "acquainted" with each other.

The program got off to a rousing start last year, creating considerable interest and an adequate audience participation. The "second time around" has been known to dampen enthusiasm somewhat for some endeavors. It will be gratifying if such doesn't prove the case with "Jump II."

The program is a sound one, with worthwhile results inevitable from the panel discussions and question-and-answer sessions. Much planning, demanding considerable time and effort, goes into such a project. Those who have been working diligently behind the scenes are deserving of the same interest that was generated a year ago.

30-Hour Work Week Berthed

A work agreement equivalent to a 30-hour week for tugboat men in New York harbor has been hailed as a major breakthrough for the entire labor movement.

Union spokesmen for the 3,400-member local said the agreement initiates the use of four crews instead of three, which will give tug men one day off for every day worked. Previously, they accumulated a day off for every two worked.

The addition of the fourth crew will create 800 new jobs, the union estimates.

However, 800 new men will not be hired. The agreement eliminated one work category and the men in it will have first call on the 800 vacancies. Whatever is left will be the true total of new jobs.

Several large contracts are to be negotiated this year. Now that the 30-hour work week barrier has been broken, other unions may follow suit.

Union men have fought the battle for shorter work weeks primarily on the basis management could afford to share a larger piece of the profit pie with them and less hours worked per man means more jobs.

The theory of more jobs is sound only on paper. But what has happened in many cases is that no new jobs have been added. Overtime has been piled up for the original work force.

The alternative is hiring more men at straight time to cut out the overtime pay. But who is eligible to be hired? Union members. And who controls union membership? Union leaders. Membership ranks can be as fat as or as thin as the union hierarchy wants it to be.

Working men are entitled to good pay and good hours in a ratio compatible with the industry's profit level. But there is the ever-present danger of killing the goose that lays golden eggs.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Each day reveals the mounting problems and pressures confronting today's youth.

Even though we are blessed with so many advantages, opportunities and privileges, this is accompanied with much responsibility, and also many evil temptations.

Time was once when circumstances prevented our children from getting very far away from home, and we could always know where they were and with whom they were. But now most teen-agers have more than enough money, access to or their own car, and opportunities to go unlimited distances.

In times past there were so many chores to take time and energy: Chop, carry and stack the wood; pump and carry the water; carry the ashes; shovel the snow; beat the rugs; push a hand lawnmower.

For the country lad it was: Milk the cow; help harvest the crops and feed the animals; gather the eggs; help in churning butter, and with the baking. Also there was grinding of feed; wicks to trim on lamps and lanterns that also needed filled with kerosene, with globes to shine. There were dozens of trips carrying food back and forth to the spring house, unless you had an ice box.

So in those days a young person's time was pretty well used up, and perhaps if they did have time left over they didn't have energy to go very far to do very many way-out things.

WE WOULD never want the return of those old-time living conditions. But I do wish today's youth would appreciate their privileges and opportunities, and realize that they have a responsibility to rightly use their time for constructive and worthwhile purposes and not waste their lives away on nonsense and immoral and inhuman practices.

The mind can contain only so much, and each day has only so many minutes. If both of these are filled with silliness and wrong things, there just isn't any room left for the right and lasting things of life. You become like the type of things you read. Your character and being is fed through your mind. Also you are influenced by the traits of your companions.

The biggest pressure today is following the crowd. There are too many caboose hooked on anything, and such a need for more who can be like an engine pulling in the right direction.

I really believe if the girls could see how they look walking down the street, and on the steps, they wouldn't be so quick to expose so much of themselves in those short dresses.

If the girls wearing these suggestive dresses could hear all the remarks made by the boys and the men they might realize the personal cost is too high, as well as the hem of the dress.

Really, not all the girls are wearing them, and the respect paid to a decently dressed and behaved individual far outweighs the thrill of following the crowd.

DON'T TRY to change the crowd - keeping yourself, right as you can with God's help will be a life-time full-time job. It takes a person with courage, and imagination, and ambition to be different and to be right. It sure doesn't take any brains or much effort following the crowd involved in someone else's idea, proving that the majority is usually wrong.

Fads live short and fade fast, teen-age weird idols rise quick, fall hard and are forgotten forever. Good ideas build and grow, and good worthwhile men and women give to the world a blessing and memory that lives on forever. May you so live that your life will be as a snowflake — leave a mark, but not a stain.

An Idea With No Merit

By Raymond Moley

President Johnson's proposal to merge the Commerce and Labor departments should be more than routine congressional business.

It would create a new department with no internal consistency. Its head, the new secretary, would hardly know what he was representing in Cabinet discussions of national policy.

Until Congress in postwar years imposed upon the executive a mass of welfare functions and support of local governments, the arrangement of federal activities into departments was a fairly workable administrative system.

Until creation of the Department of Defense in 1947, the various departments were fairly consistent units. They were of two kinds.

Seven of them — State, Treasury, Justice, War, Navy Interior and Post Office — managed functions appropriate to the general government.

Three of them — Agriculture, Commerce and Labor — recognized special economic interests.

Then came Defense and Health, Education and Welfare with functions designated by its name. More recently, the spill-over from HEW was collected in the Housing and Urban Development Department. Then the President proposed another, to concern itself with transportation.

IN 1903 Congress created a Department of Commerce and Labor, which a few years later was divided into separate departments of Commerce and Labor.

The secretaries of agriculture, commerce and labor were in a sense representing the interests indicated by their department's name. In the Cabinet they spoke for those respective private interests. To the people of agriculture, business and labor they spoke for and interpreted national policy. The bureaucracies they commanded were supposed to serve those interests.

Now comes the proposal to merge Commerce and Labor into a Department of Business and Labor. In his State of the Union message the President said:

The word "streamlined" has been used endlessly to apply to such reorganizations of government.

That way of promoting economy and efficiency has its limits. As far as the federal establishment is concerned, the real road to economy is for Congress and L.B.J. to cool their passion to create new services until what they have already created can be evaluated.

They might also observe more care in dumping upon an already overburdened bureaucracy half-baked contrivances to give benefits to everyone. In the past two years there have been more ill-planned creations under the guise of "doing good for people" than can be assimilated in a generation.

AS FOR MERGING the departments of Commerce and Labor, the new department would be an utterly confused aggregate of dissimilar activities. Both business and organized labor would lose their accustomed access to government and their proper representation in the Cabinet.

The new secretary of business and labor would be neither fish nor fowl. All that would be saved would be the upkeep of one top secretary. But that saving, no doubt, would be blotted out by the creation of several new assistant and undersecretaries. Instead of two fairly manageable departments, there would be one unmanageable department.

School Problems Discussed

Respect for law and order has been preached by almost everybody in government from the President on down. No explanation has been given, however, as to why the U.S. Office of Education is today disregarding the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which says:

" 'Desegregation' shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance "

The same law declares that to assure "nondiscrimination in federally assisted programs," each federal department and agency which is empowered to extend financial assistance to any program or activity is authorized to effectuate the provisions of the statute.

But it is stated that this can be accomplished only "by issuing rules, regulations, or orders of general applicability which shall be consistent with the achievement of the objectives of the statute authorizing the financial assistance."

It is also stipulated that "no such rule, regulation, or order shall become effective unless and until approved by the president."

MR. JOHNSON thus far, however, has not approved any regulation containing "guidelines" with respect to "racial imbalance" in the schools. The U.S. Office of Education nevertheless continues to threaten the withdrawal of public funds if certain "guidelines" are not obeyed.

Latest example of this activity is reported in an Associated Press dispatch from Orlando, Fla., on Feb. 6, which reads as follows:

"Florida counties in which few Negroes live will be expected to abolish dual school systems by next fall, a federal official said yesterday."

"Stricter federal guidelines for desegregation of public schools were spelled out by John Hodgdon of the U.S. Office of Education. He spoke to county school officials from throughout the state."

"Hodgdon said he was outlining only guidelines; in school districts with many Negro pupils, individual problems will be considered."

THE SAME situation which is described in Florida prevails in other states. Unquestionably many students will have to be transported from one school district to another in order to achieve "racial balance" of this kind, but the Civil Rights Act of 1964 says:

"Nothing herein shall empower any official or court of the United States to issue any order seeking to achieve a racial balance in any school by requiring the transportation of pupils or students from one school to another or one school district to another."

In a recent hearing a federal examiner, Seymour Wenner, called attention to the fact that the President has not approved any regulations dealing with "guidelines." Mr. Wenner said:

"Did Congress say that he (the President) could say, 'I really don't want to hear about this problem any more' that seems to me to be exactly what Congress said he wasn't supposed to do. That seems to be at war with this very peculiar requirement that the President supervise the regulations."

Briefs have been requested in this case. It is anticipated, however, that the U.S. Office of Education will argue that the "guidelines" are only "advice," and not an order.

But the effect of the activities of the Office of Education is just the same as if an order had been issued. apparently does not give any reasons for such action, except to say in general terms that the wishes of the federal government have not been fulfilled.

MANY MEMBERS of Congress have been criticizing the Department of Health, Education and Welfare — which supervises the U.S. Office of Education — for attempting to bring about "racial balance" in the schools despite the fact that the statute itself withholds any authority to carry out such an objective.

But the Office of Education continues to make its own "guidelines" without formal presidential approval.

to establish equality of men and to preserve the Union are worthy of highest praise. But even today hate and sin run rampant seeking to tear down and destroy.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

"Getting Religion?"

How often have you heard someone speak of "getting religion"? I would imagine quite frequently. People are being urged by many of the preachers of the land to "get religion". These same people are told that they will be able to tell that they have it by the strange feeling they will have in their heart. Then when this person begins to shout and yell, they state that this is the indication that shows that this person truly has religion. There are a few observations that we would like to make about this teaching.

First, let it be noted that religion is something that you "DO" rather than something you "get". James states that, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this. To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." Jas. 1:27. The indication that a person has truly turned to the Lord is shown by his practice of pure religion. This involves "doing" God's will. He will show interest in others as well as his own conduct. The Bible does not teach that yelling and shouting are an indication of pure religion. Where in the Bible do you read about men and women yelling and shouting and rolling as an indication that they had "gotten religion"?

Again let it be noted that some have a basic misunderstanding of what the Bible means when it speaks of the heart. Some pound upon their chest and say that they know that they are saved because they have religion in their heart. When the Bible speaks of the heart it has reference to the part of man that "understands" Mt. 13:15; that "reasons" Lk. 5:22; that "believes" Acts 8:37; and that "obeys" Rom. 6:17. Thus, when the Bible speaks of the heart, it is not referring to the physical blood pump. Religion has nothing to do with a strange feeling in your blood pump. Religion has effect on the thinking of man. The person who pounds his chest and says that he has religion right there, has a misconception of what the Bible heart is.

Yes, God does want us to be religious. Religion has to do with our conduct of life. We "do" religion, we do not "Get" it. If we are truly religious, we will be happy. This does not indicate that we will shout and cause disturbance. Religion affects our heart because we believe with our heart that Jesus is the Christ. We then repent of all of our sins. Acts 2:38. Next we will confess Jesus with our mouth. Rom. 10:10. Then we will be buried with our Lord in baptism for the remission of all our sins. Rom. 6:3, 4. In doing all of this we are obeying God from the heart. This then is followed by a faithful life in God's service. Are you "doing" religion?

Girls Unhurt As Car Flips In Canal Bed

Two teen-aged Minerva girls escaped injury early today when their car spun off Route 30, went down an embankment, hitting a tree, then overturned in the water-filled canal bed about five miles east of Minerva.

The Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Kathy Brothers, 17, of Minerva R.D. 2 was headed west on Route 30 when she lost control of her 1966 coach on a slight curve in the Bayard area about 12.50 a.m.

The car came to rest on its side in the bed of the former Sandy Beaver Canal, officers said. Jeannette Stockum, 17, of Minerva, a passenger, and the driver were unhurt, the patrol added.

There was severe damage to the left side of the car.

Walter Ziegler, 25, of Hanover, R.D. 1 was cited after his car rammed the rear of another on Route 30 at Hanover about 2:10 a.m.

Ziegler was headed east when his 1966 convertible hit the rear of a coupe operated by Jimmy Heflin, 25, of Canton, who had halted for a stop sign at the intersection with Route 9.

Ziegler was charged with failure to halt in the assured clear distance.

West Virginia Names Nine In Chemical Suit

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia filed suit Friday in U.S. District Court at San Francisco against nine chemical firms charging conspiracy to fix prices of chlor-alkali products sold to the state and its political subdivisions during the past 19 years.

State Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson said the state was joined in the action by 58 municipalities and public service districts which purchased chemicals from the companies (Weirton was among the municipalities).

Named as defendants in the suits were Allied Chemical Corp., Dow Chemical Co., FMC Corp., Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., Pemsalt Chemical Corp., Diamond Alkali Co., Hooker Chemical Corp., and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Robertson said the suit involved sales of calcium chloride, liquid chlorine and soda ash.

Calcium chloride is used in snow and ice control on highways. Liquid chlorine and soda ash are used in water purification and sewage treatment.

The suit did not specify the amount of damages sought, but Robertson said he would "roughly guess" that about $1 million in alleged damages is involved, based on the anti-trust law's provision for triple damages for price-fixing overcharges.

Similar action was filed last August in Federal Court in Minneapolis by the state and 11 municipalities alleging price-fixing by six companies in sales of rock salt.

Robertson said the rock salt case appears near settlement at this time. He indicated the settlement would involve several thousand dollars.

Minor Damage Listed As Cars Collide Here

Minor damage resulted from a traffic mishap Friday afternoon on St. Clair Ave. at the intersection of Potters Alley, police reported.

The autos involved were driven by Mildred J. Porter, 40, of Box 84, Lisbon, and Phillip A. Chan, 25, of 1212 1/2 Avondale St.

Police said the Porter auto backed from Potters Alley into the path of Chan's car, resulting in collision causing rear damage to both vehicles, 1962 and 1963 two-door sedans, respectively.

S. E. Hayes was the investigating officer. He timed the mishap at 4:18.

The pine tree is the principal source of turpentine.

Spirit Of Love Encourages The Young At Heart

Photographs By Robert Poole

PROBABLY THE most frequent theme in literature is that dealing with the warm, tender emotion of love. Poets have eulogized it, psychologists have analyzed it, and the young at heart have practiced it, but what is the true source of this feeling?

For years this has remained a mystery. But we have finally solved the riddle with the discovery of ancient manuscripts revealing the secret and the aid of an alert photographer. Responsible for the delightful emotion is simply a supernatural being or a spirit, to be more exact. You see, the Spirit of Love is not merely a phrase of the writer, but a real entity, playing an important part in the lives of those romantically inclined.

What is the secret of its success?

It all begins at the home of the girl where the spirit is closely supervising the activities. Having arrived with this would-be Don Juan at the home of his "certain someone", the Spirit of Love begins weaving a mystic spell.

THE SPIRIT HAD already helped both boy and girl in their preparation for the date by assisting in the selection of clothes and suggesting to both parties of the best places to go for an evening's entertainment.

With little difficulty, the date begins and the young couple — happy and gay in each other's company — heads for the local basketball game.

As the tense pace of the contest quickens, the Spirit is disturbed to find that the couple is more intent on what is happening on the court than the courting itself. It is obvious that something must be done!

Traveling with them to a friend's house after the game, the apparition looks on approvingly as the boy gives instructions on the finer points of playing pool. The only hope is that during the rest of the evening he doesn't place himself behind the eight ball.

Food then becomes the order of the evening, so it is only natural that a drive-in restaurant is the next item on the agenda. How can they think of their stomachs at a time like this?

But remembering the old cliché that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, the spirit decides maybe the young girl has the right idea after all.

A PARK BENCH has often been the symbol of romance in the United States. Not wanting to break tradition, our young lovers next find themselves at that magical spot. His attitude baffles love's ambassador who is left up a tree.

Finally they arrive back home. The night has been long, but our sprite is happy. In spite of all obstacles, it succeeds in linking two hearts together.

How about you? Although it always isn't visible, the Spirit of Love is with everyone, not just the young. It plays on the heart strings of people everywhere — and is quite a musician.

A Tale Of Romance

This allegory on the spirit of love and its accompanying photographs were produced by the East Liverpool High School Creative Writing Club for the Valentine season.

The couple symbolizing young people inspired by the spirit is portrayed by Barbara Rohrer and Blaine Barrett, seniors, and the spirit by John Smith, junior.

Officers of the club are Jim Patrick, president; Phil Snyder, vice president; Cathy Stanley, secretary; and Dave Tobin, treasurer. James Martin is the faculty adviser.

OHIO IS SEEKING an increase in its resident hunting and fishing license fees. The proposal is for each license plus a 10 cent increase in the writing fee.

There's no nice way of informing someone that something is going to cost more, but in this case it's not at all as bad as it sounds. The money definitely is needed by the Division of Wildlife and when you consider the enjoyment derived from the sport, it's cheap at half price as the saying goes.

The increase, if approved by the State Legislature, will be the first since 1952 — 15 years ago when licenses jumped from $1 to $2.

Wildlife expenses have increased like everything else. Add to this the fact the sale of licenses has been declining over the years and you can see where the operating budget must be padded.

The division derives its money from the sale of licenses and from federal taxes on sporting goods equipment. There is no other way to obtain more money unless it comes from the sportsmen. In this the hunter and fisherman can take much pride.

It is estimated the increase would add about $2 million annually to the division's budget.

This would enable the division to enlarge on several programs, start new ones and provide adequate salary structures for its employees.

THE PAST FIVE YEAR average income of the division has been $3,819,000. In 1966 it was $476,494 less than in 1958.

Figuring that your license is good all year and figuring how much it costs for other types of entertainment such as movies, football games or skiing, the hunting or fishing license is a good bargain.

Compared to other states, Ohio still doesn't rank high in license costs. In 1965, 43 of the 50 states had combined hunting and fishing license fees greater than Ohio. Thirty-five states charged higher resident fishing license fees ranging from $2.50 to $5.50, the average being $3.79.

Forty-one states charged higher hunting fees ranging from $2.50 to $9, the average being $4.31.

Next week I will list some of the many facts and figures from the state on the condition of the division and the need for the increase, and he benefits officials say the sportsmen will derive from the hike. Most of them I agree with, although there are some I don't. After you hear them, you can judge for yourself.

The only thing I will suggest is that you look at the proposed increase with an open mind and not become angered immediately because it is hitting you in the pocketbook. This is one area where you, as a sportsman benefit, and therefore you have to foot the bill.

THE WATER LEVEL at Highlandtown Lake has been lowered. The valve was opened over a week ago and the lake is not being allowed to fill.

No one will say officially what is going on. It apparently is because of a disagreement between state and county officials over the flooding of a section of the Steubenville Rd.

The state agreed the road would not be flooded until another route agreed on around the area was improved. This work hasn't been done, although it is planned.

There are arguments on both sides that can go on forever, if allowed. There is a loggerhead. I feel that all could be worked out in a manner to the satisfaction of the majority.

The lake was to have been stocked with fish this spring. It can't be done if there is not enough water. This will delay the program for a year. This can only hurt the state and the county.

There is no doubt the lake will become a reality. This latest development is just another in a long string of problems that have developed. Problems of this nature are always present, but can be minimized if those concerned work on them.

As everyone will suffer from a delay in fulfillment of a fine recreational area if the lake is not filled, wouldn't it be wise to work out a solution as soon as possible?

BEAVER TRAPPERS in the area are having good success this year from all indications. Numerous reports received indicate several have been taken and Ralph Drake, Columbiana County game protector, estimates more will be harvested this year than last.

The weather has been more favorable this year. Last year the creeks and lakes were frozen solid. A heavy snow blanketed the countryside and the beavers did not venture out of their homes.

Trapping season ends next Wednesday and the pelts must be tagged by midnight next Thursday.

Ralph says he has tagged 25 beaver to date. One weighed 42 pounds. Bob Flennery of Gilford Lake has one that will go over 50 pounds. Ralph says the trappers are showing up at the maintenance building at the Highlandtown Wildlife Area with a few carcasses, but more are needed to aid in the biological survey being conducted by the Ohio State University.

Ralph will be at the Wildlife area next Thursday from 6 to 9 p. m. to wind up tagging.

Len Conkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Conkle of Franklin Square Rd., and Jack Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Evans of the Fairfield Rd., trapped a three-legged beaver near East Fairfield last Sunday. It apparently had been caught in a trap before but escaped.

The two 14-year-olds were mighty proud of their catch. The animal was 43 inches long, tail and all, and was the big one that Ralph tagged.

Bob Meister, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Meister of 15 W. Main St., Salineville, and John Sambrook, 17, son of Bob and John heft 55-pound beaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sambrook of E. Main St., Salineville, trapped a beaver they say weighed 55 pounds in Jefferson County.

They got it the first day of the season in the Brush Creek Area. Both caught their limit of two the first day. Another weighed 35 pounds and two were 25 pounds.

Bob and John are juniors at Southern Local High School.

How many people don't realize how powerful a beaver is. Because of their size and strength, a No. 3 double spring trap must be used. Just think how much strength a dog has and most of them do not weigh as much as the beavers caught by the two Salineville boys.

PENNSYLVANIA'S BEAR hunters had their best season in 36 years in 1966 as they reported harvesting a total of 605 bruins.

This is an impressive hike over the 347 reported taken in the state during the 1965 season.

The harvest is the fourth highest since record-keeping on bears was started in 1915. The only years in which the 1966 figures was exceeded were in 1942, when 929 were taken; 1926, when hunters bagged 660, and 1930, when 707 were shot.

The state game officials were pleased with the harvest. Glenn L. Bowers, Game Commission executive director, said "Our game management objectives required a larger bear harvest in 1966.

Officials feel there is nothing to indicate the bear population has been endangered by hunting pressure. Bear and turkey seasons were running concurrently in the northcentral part of the state last season. This is believed to have been one of the factors in the large kill.

The top five counties were Cameron 86; Clinton 67; Elk 59; Lycoming 55, and Pike 47.

The total does not include 86 bears which were killed on highways, had to be destroyed because of crop damage or other reasons.

IF YOU WANT to learn how to fish, go to school. That's exactly what Mike Hornick president of the Midland Sportsmen's Club, did while vacationing in Florida and he has a diploma to prove it.

Mike received his "Master of Fishing" diploma after attending the Sarasota College of Fishing. He was presented the document during graduation exercises by Sarasota Tarpon Springs Queen Ramona Stamets.

He completed lessons in "what to fish with," "how to fish with it," "where and when to fish" and "catching the fish."

The school was conducted by local fishing experts who showed them how to select baits and lures, how to fight fish without losing them and how to land a fish whether in a boat or on land.

Area Octogenarian Keeps Busy With Varied Handicraft Projects

By PAUL HUTCHMAN

Some retired people may complain about having too much time on their hands — but not Eli Hodgkinson, 81, of Martha St., Glenmoor, who has utilized his spare minutes and hours to complete a gigantic model of a ferris wheel.

The ferris wheel is constructed primarily of some 4,700 hobby "craft sticks" Hodgkinson bought in stores downtown. The only other parts used are pins, washers and hub sections in the center and hooks and curtain rings to suspend the seats.

He uses glue to attach the sticks.

So far as Hodgkinson knows, it is the largest ferris wheel in existence made from craft sticks. He used no printed plan or pattern in fashioning the project.

HE LATER intends to hook up the finely - balanced wheel with a plug-in iron mangle motor being adapted for the purpose. The ferris wheel will be driven by a belt arrangement, he explained.

Hodgkinson made some smaller wheels prior to his present creation which was started last September. "I would have made this ferris wheel larger but I wouldn't be able to move it through the front door," the octogenarian remarked.

He intends to transfer it to the adjacent garage and install the motor, "so the kids can see it."

He has made and sold numerous lamps and fruit and bread baskets from the same materials.

Hodgkinson has started on another ambitious craft stick project — a floor lamp — and is formulating plans for a grandfather's clock.

He recommends covering the wooden items with clear lacquer to retain the original appearance.

He also has constructed birdhouses, bird feeders and squirrel houses which have been placed in the back yard.

The hobbyist retired in 1941 from the Crucible Steel Co. in Midland, where he was employed as a mechanic for 24 years. Prior to that he was a juggler at Cartwright's Pottery and Homer Laughlin Plant 5 in Newell.

Eli Hodgkinson and his 8-foot ferris wheel model.

Following his retirement, he owned the former Park Place Tavern on Pennsylvania Ave. in East End for five years.

Born in East Liverpool in 1885, he has resided in the area his entire life. He is the oldest of six brothers and sisters.

HODGKINSON has resided in Glenmoor for 17 years, and built most of the interior of the stone ranch - style home himself, and does his own repair work.

His sister-in-law, Myrtle Felor, who resides there, notes, "there isn't a thing in the house that doesn't work." Before this year, he cultivated a vegetable garden in the large lot behind the house and raised a perennial plot of some 750 vari-colored tulips.

His sister-in-law is also busily engaged in various projects. Her specialty is making quilts and hand-painting designs on them. One of her quilts bordered in red, white and blue, has painted birds representing each of the 50 states.

She also bakes and sells bread, pies, cakes and cookies.

Inspiration For Today

THE LENTEN SEASON

By Rev. Willis Summers
Pastor of Newell, Nessler Methodist Churches

This week we have entered that period of the Christian Year called Lent, preceding the holiest of all days — Easter.

It is a testimony to this fact that the first day of every week, as we gather for Christian worship, we are celebrating the anniversary of the Resurrection.

Christ must become our individual Lord to become a part of our society. It is imperative that we as individuals spend much time this season in prayer and meditation.

We must examine our lives under the light of Christ's life and teachings as recorded in the gospels.

LET US remember that it was the evil of the devout and not the scoundrels which put Jesus to death. These sins are often unrecognized as such in our modern day.

As we seek to cleanse our lives, let us consider the sins of jealousy, indifference, pride, irresponsibility, ignorance, reluctance to change, timidity, worldly wisdom and lack of faith.

These are sins which continually crucify Christ.

May we be assured that Easter not only signifies that life triumphs over death but right over wrong. Goodness exposes evil. While men may say that Christ failed, it was in this defeat that our Lord triumphed over evil.

The forgiveness Jesus practiced in his daily life as well as during his suffering on the cross is our source of redemption. His forgiveness was without malice causing the sinner to hate his sin and turn to righteousness.

OUR PRAYER and meditation will lead us to a closer fellowship with God and fill us with the new life He promises.

Each of us should ask, "Do I have enough of His love to share Him with others who, too, are in need?" There is no more fitting time than now to dedicate oneself, to accept the eternal life He has promised and to launch out into it.

The closer we live in fellowship with God the more conscious we will be of our sins if we are really learning and growing. He has made the supreme sacrifice and given man freedom of choice to accept His redeeming love.

May we choose to let Him be our Guide.

You And The Law

Jerry built a midget racer. He had a special little track on his farm and he liked to zip around the loop whenever he had a chance.

But, after a while, Jerry got tired of going around in circles. Late one night he took the little racer out to the highway and zipped away. He got the little car up to 75 miles an hour when he heard the siren. It was the Highway Patrol — right behind him.

Jerry pulled off the road and stopped.

"Well I guess you've got me for speeding," Jerry admitted as the patrolman approached.

"I've got you for more than that," the patrolman answered. "Where are your license plates? Let me see this car's registration."

"THIS CAR IS a racer designed for my own track. I never registered it," Jerry replied.

"Well, you should have thought of that before you took it on to the highway. Any powered vehicle that is driven on the highway must be registered, have license tags and be driven by a properly licensed driver," the patrolman said.

So Jerry got several citations for his little jaunt. He would have gotten even more of a jolt if he had told the patrolman he was using gasoline from his farm tank — which isn't assessed highway use tax due to the nature of its use.

Certain powered vehicles are not required to have license tags because they never use the highways. These include various types of earth-moving equipment, racing cars and others.

But, once it's on the regular highway, be it township, county or state or federal, the vehicle had better have the proper papers and tags.

The Old Timer

The Lighter Side

Able Abraham

Lincoln was lean and long and spare,
He didn't like to share,
He let his whiskers grow down to there
Before he freed the slave.

As a boy he was hard as nails,
But he didn't have much money,
So, he went to work a-splittin' rails
'Till it wasn't even funny.

Abie in his early years,
Did his sums upon a shovel;
There was no blackboard, it appears,
In his homely little hotel.

He used to wait on local trade
Within the village store,
And instead of what she should've paid,
He charged a lady more.

'Twasn't more than a dime or so,
But Abie started walkin'
To give the lady back her dough
And keep the folks from talkin'.

Abie was great for long debate —
He thus kept folks from thinkin',
And they didn't know until too late
That they'd elected Lincoln.

Soon he heard, by word of mouth,
The North was up a tree,
And an army in the solid south
Was led by Bobbie Lee.

So he took a million fuddled men
And pushed them here and there,
Until that point in history when
The South surrendered in despair.

Some say Lincoln was quite a gink —
I will not say he's not —

But he is greater now, I think
Than before that fatal shot.

They tell of him, in tale and song,
That he worked for Negro rights,
And was honest as the day is long —
But how about the nights?

Was he rewarded for his toil and sweat,
This tall and ugly gent?
Is he honored? Why, you bet —
He has his profile on a cent!

To My Valentine

Since calories you are counting, dear,
I cannot candy send this year.
Your allergy a problem poses:
I cannot send you yellow roses.

Furs? They're hardly apropos
For the places where we go.
Jewelry? Why hide lovely hands
With gaudy gold or silver bands?

Diamonds? Highly over-rated —
And rubies just aren't indicated;
Emeralds, jades? It's not the year
And amethysts are out, I fear.

A watch I gave you once before
(You dropped it on the cellar floor);
Money's in bad taste, of course —
And we have no place to keep a horse.

An auto? Why have more than one?
You've never learned to use a gun —
And I am not the type of louse
Who'd give you something for the house.

So, tell you what, O gal of mine —
I'll send a quarter Valentine,
Complete with all the love that's a part
Of my sensibly economic heart!

Presidential Disability, Vice Presidency

Amendment Approval Plugs Gaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two gaps in the Constitution have been plugged with the ratification of an amendment dealing with presidential disability and vacancy in the vice presidency.

The 25th Amendment was ratified Friday when Nevada became the 38th state to give its approval. Congress submitted the amendment to the states July 6, 1965, after the Senate and House each approved it by the required two-thirds majority.

Nevada's action completed ratification by the required three-fourths of the 50 states. Minnesota had become the 37th state earlier Friday. For a time it was thought Minnesota was the 38th, but North Dakota officials ruled their state's apparent ratification Thursday was not valid.

The amendment became a part of the Constitution immediately, although a formal proclamation of ratification will be made later by the administrator of the General Services Administration.

The last previous amendment was adopted Jan. 23, 1964. It banned the poll tax as a condition for elections to federal office.

One section of the 25th Amendment provides that whenever the office of vice president becomes vacant, the president shall nominate a successor who would take office upon confirmation by a majority vote of both houses of Congress.

The country has been without a vice president 16 times. These vacancies covered 37 years.

Other sections provide that when a president is incapacitated or otherwise unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the vice president shall become acting president.

If a president notifies Congress in writing of his disability, the vice president would take over until the president sent word that he was able to resume the powers of his office.

In case a president was unable or unwilling to declare his disability, the vice president would become acting president if he and a majority of the Cabinet, or a majority of such other body as Congress may later provide by law, advised Congress in writing that the president was unable to discharge his duties.

A president could regain his powers by notifying Congress that his inability no longer existed. This declaration could be challenged within four days by the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet or such other body as Congress might later provide.

If such a dispute arose, it would be settled by Congress, which would be required to assemble within 48 hours if it were not in session.

If Congress determined within 21 days by a two-thirds vote of both the Senate and the House that the president was unable to discharge his duties, the vice president would continue to act as president. Otherwise the president would resume the powers and duties of his office.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief sponsor of the amendment, hailed its ratification as providing "a solution to a constitutional gap that has continued for nearly two centuries."

He said that vice presidents have feared to act when a president became disabled lest they be "branded a usurper."

This has been because of doubt whether, under the Constitution, an incapacitated president upon his recovery could regain the prerogatives of his office once a vice president had taken them over.

When President James A. Garfield fell victim to an assassin's bullet in 1881 he lingered for about 80 days without being able to discharge the duties of his office and yet Vice President Chester A. Arthur did not attempt to act for him.

Another acute situation arose when President Woodrow Wilson suffered a severe stroke in 1919.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, several times ill, attempted to deal with the problem by entering into an informal agreement with Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Similar agreements subsequently were made by Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson with their vice presidents.

'Dissident Dems' Help Bond Plan

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN

Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Doleful, one straight-faced Ohio lawmaker muttered after last week's House approval of the Rhodes administration's Ohio Bond Commission:

"I'm not a member of an organized political party. I'm a House Democrat."

Lamentable, he thought, that without 11 Democratic "fence jumpers" the Republican conceived plan for a long-range capital improvements program would have slipped one short of the three-fifths vote necessary to put it to a statewide vote as a constitutional amendment.

WHAT MOTIVATED the dissident Dems?

Practical politics, for one thing. Gov. Rhodes' prompt expression of appreciation — publicly and in individual telephone calls — gives a hint on how well they landed on the other side.

The governor undoubtedly will not forget who cast the 27 votes against the plan when and if the time comes for decisions on where the capital improvements will be made.

Cleveland needs the OBC. This was the reasoning of Rep. Carl B. Stokes, D-Cuyahoga, only Democrat to take the floor in the resolution's support.

And three Cuyahoga County Democrats apparently agreed.

BUT THE VOTE also pushed to the surface the fact of a minority within a minority, an obvious split in Democratic ranks in the House.

A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, dumped this session as House minority leader, hasn't lost his following.

He and his team — Reps. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-Scioto; Douglas Applegate, D-Jefferson; and Richard M. Christiansen, D-Richland — solidly supported the OBC.

And the new minority leader, Rep. Frank R. Pokorny, D-Cuyahoga, failed to hold four Democrats from his own county.

WHAT THIS split might produce could be evident when the question of a special election for the OBC and the Republican re-apportionment plan comes up again in the House.

Two weeks ago the House's 37 Democrats blocked an emergency measure to hold the special election May 2 — but only by four votes.

There is much reason to expect they'll get the four votes from the Lancione faction when the special election bill — with an emergency clause inserted by the Senate — comes back to the House for reconsideration.

RIGHTS OF the accused versus the rights of police and the public to protection from criminal elements — central theme of U.S. Supreme Court rulings limiting arrest and seizure procedures — were argued long, logically and at times emotionally in the House Judiciary Committee.

Debate was on a proposed "stop and frisk" law to permit a peace officer to stop anyone in a public place whom he suspects has committed, is committing or is about to commit a felony.

UNDER the measure's provisions the officer would be allowed to demand the person's name, address and explanation of his action and, if he reasonably suspects danger, search the person for dangerous weapons.

Language of the bill is nearly identical to that in a New York law which has been on the books since 1965 and has to be upheld as constitutional in state courts.

The legislation is recommended by the crime committee of Cincinnati City Council, organized during the city's strangle episode.

SUPPORTING testimony in four committee hearings has come from Cincinnati's safety director and its police chief, from the committee's chairman and two co-counsel, and from the Buckeye Sheriffs Association.

Vigorous dissent was voiced by the American Civil Liberties Union, Cincinnati Legal Aid Society counsel, the Cincinnati branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Cincinnati Human Relations Commission and a group of six University of Cincinnati Law School professors.

Most clearly stated arguments on both sides were presented to the committee by two well-prepared attorneys.

CONTENDING the law is constitutional was Arnold Morelli, former U.S. district attorney and the Cincinnati crime committee's co-counsel.

'Indiscreet,' Florida Says Of Coed Who Posed Nude

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Goldin conceded his client had appeared nude in the gatefold of Charlatan magazine, a publica- tion which often is critical of University of Florida adminis- tration policies. It claims about 35,000 circulation among South- ern colleges.

But, said Goldin, the universi- ty has no definitive code of con- duct so Pamela "could know what she could do and could not do."

Miss Brewer, on Goldin's ad- vice, took the Fifth Amendment when she was asked if she wished to testify. She came to the hearing clad in a snug peach sweater and a miniskirt that terminated at least three inches above her knee.

All 3 Aboard Killed When Plane Crashes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A pri- vate airplane climbed to 300 feet at takeoff from Dallas Love Field then crashed and burned, killing all three persons aboard.

The dead included A.R. Wat- son, 66, president of Southwest- ern Public Service Co., his wife Lois, 66, and pilot Fred K. Dick, 47, all of Amarillo.

Witnesses said the twin-engine Beechcraft went into a spin Fri- day after one of its engines broke from its wing mount.

Watson, a former director of the National Association of Manufacturers, also was presi- dent of the Texas Atomic En- ergy Research Foundation.

Man Given 10 Years For Robbery Of Bank

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jona- than M. Moore, 24, of Youngs- town was sentenced Friday to 10 years in a federal prison by U.S. District Court Judge Ben C. Green for the $5,749 unarmed robbery of a Cleveland Trust Co. branch bank Aug. 16.

Moore had pleaded guilty. He was sentenced under a new pro- vision of the law which allows the Federal Parole Board to re- lease him from prison at its dis- cretion.

Will Mark Holiday

LISBON — The Columbiana County Courthouse, County Welfare Department, driver license examination station on W. Lincoln Way, the deputy reg- istrar of motor vehicles and the state liquor counter in Hamil- ton's Drugstore will be closed Monday in observance of Lin- coln's Birthday. The post office, banks and federal offices will be open as usual.

The university faculty disci- pline committee delayed an- nouncing a penalty for the 18- year-old Springfield, Va., coed whose measurements are 38-25- 38.

The committee heard several witnesses — all in favor of Pamela — in a tumultuous pub- lic hearing then, after a closed meeting, found she was guilty of "indiscreet and inappropriate conduct."

Pamela and her lawyer, Selig Goldin of Gainesville, said they thought the decision was "im- proper and not justified by the evidence and the law."

Pamela, asked whether she felt she was wronged, replied "Wrong? No. Wronged? Yes."

She said she had posed nude before for art photography ex- hibits overseas, including one picture that went on public view. But this, she said, was the first time she had posed for a magazine.

Asked whether she would do it again, she said she did not want to answer. Her lawyer said, "She is not going to do anything to flout the university."

He said he and Pamela would be notified of the recommended penalty next Tuesday — before it is made public.

An observer for the American Civil Liberties Union, Universi- ty of Florida law Prof. Stanley Laughlin, said, "I thought the doctrine of the university was apparent — it doesn't have much application in a university of 17,000 students."

"We need a clearly defined code of conduct that recognizes every constitutional right that other arms of government ob- serve."

Pamela's hearing was moved from the Board of Regents room to the larger Law School audi- torium when some 200 students objected to being excluded from the room that could seat only 50 persons.

Surprise Honors Paid Rhodes At ONA Event

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes went to the Ohio Newspaper Associa- tion's banquet to present "Gov- ernor's Awards" to 16 distin- guished Ohioans and ended up receiving the organization's highest award himself.

In a surprise move, the as- sociation Friday night present- ed Rhodes its "Distinguished Public Service" award — only the third time it had ever been given.

Earlier recipients were FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and Sen. Frank J. Lausche, five- time governor of Ohio.

ONA President Ernst L. Hen- es, Wellington Enterprise pub- lisher, in presenting the award, said it was "for past service to the people of Ohio."

"You have succeeded in mov- ing Ohio forward with a fresh approach to government," the citation read by Henes said.

The governor said the award should go instead "to all the people who have helped ad- vance this program. He also launched a pitch for the pro- posed Ohio Bond Commission.

Common problems assail our major metropolitan areas," Rhodes said, saying that the bond commission can be the an- swer to many of them.

He also disclosed an intensive campaign to win voter approval of the bond plan when it ap- pears on the statewide ballot, telling the newspapermen, "We will be in your community talk- ing about the bond commission."

One person possibly listening with a more intense interest than most was Gov. Dewey F. Bartlett of Oklahoma, winner of a "Governor's Award." Bartlett is a native of Marietta, Ohio.

Another governor, Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania, was similarly honored, but had re- ceived his award at a noon luncheon because of a prior en- gagement in his home state. Shafer lived for nine years in Sebring, Ohio.

Boys Found After Leaving Youth Home

EAST PALESTINE — Two brothers — aged 9 and 11—who were missing from the Kyes Juvenile Receiving Home here all day Friday were returned to the home last night after volunteer searchers found them in a strip mine area in Dar- lington Township, Pa.

The two boys were tracked in snow to the site by Richard Grim and Forrest Stallsmith, part of a group of some 15 vol- unteers, police and firemen who hunted for the two all day yes- terday.

The boys left the home on the regular school schedule yes- terday morning, but were re- ported absent from class at 9 a.m.

Columbiana County sheriff's deputies, city police and fire- men and others assisted in the search.

After two boys were reported seen in the Reservoir Hill area, the hunt centered at the state line and Grim and Stall- smith came across their tracks in the snow and followed them to the mine area.

The boys said they wanted to see their father, having been separated from their brothers and sisters last week.

About 100 were present for the afternoon program at the Grace United Presbyterian Church, where special music was pro- vided by the choirs of the Sec- ond Baptist Church and the New Hope Baptist Church.

Mrs. Jack Conley was gen- eral chairman, with the address by the Rev. E. H. Harris of the Second Baptist Church.

The choir of the host church sang the theme for the observ- ance "Of His Kingdom There Shall Be No End" and another hymn, "Thy Kingdom Come O Lord." Mrs. Richard Welch was director and William Richards organist.

The Rev. Charles Menough spoke on "Prayer." Mrs. Roy Richards was general chairman. The East End and downtown services were sponsored by the East Liverpool Council of Unit- ed Church Women, with Mrs. William E. Dunlap Jr. president.

Sixty were present at the eve- ning service at the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church, which included members of the Glenmoor and Longs Run Churches. Mrs. Wanda Unrue was chairman. The group fol- lowed the program prepared by the American Council of Church- es.

U.S. Appeal May Be Futile On Gas Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is trying to get oil companies to roll back gasoline price increases which could cost motorists a penny a gallon — but the first industry reaction is negative.

Charles F. Luce, acting sec- retary of the interior in the ab- sence of Stewart L. Udall, sent telegrams to eight companies protesting their increases and to three others asking them not to follow suit.

Even as he wired, one of the three, Texaco, raised its prices.

Phillips Petroleum Co. wired back to Luce that "business cannot continue to absorb cost increases as suggested by your telegram."

Phillips raised its price to dealers by six-tenths of a cent a gallon and suggested dealers add another four-tenths to the retail price.

Luce had wired that "the na- tional interest in stable prices requires me to request that you rescind this price increase."

Besides Phillips and Texaco, prices have been raised by American Oil Co., Continental Oil, Cities Service, Gulf, Sin- clair, Sunray Oil and Mobil. Luce asked Shell and Humble not to follow suit.

The increases are to dealers and large commercial custom- ers through most of the country east of the Rockies and to wholesalers in many states.

Dies In Rugby Match

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — A 16-year-old high school rugby player, Douglas Swan, died of sudden congestion in the windpipe after he was hit in the stomach with the ball.

The winning toss can't be considered for a world's indoor record since Matson used the outdoor shot — presumably the same one he'll take to the Olympics.

Neil Steinhauer of Oregon holds the indoor record at 67 feet, 10 inches.

"The last 10 times I've thrown in workouts I was over 66 feet — I had 68-3," he said. "It was the best I've ever done in workouts."

In order, Matson held the 16-pound shot 68-94, 69-2, 68-18, 67-11 1/2 and 66-3.

ting ninth-ranked Morgantown, 75-73 Friday night on the Oak Glen court.

Morgantown with a 12-4 record now, went into the game ranked ninth in the state and had previously defeated Oak Glen 88-54 earlier in the season.

Behind Crago in the Oak Glen scoring were Jim Carnes with 18 and Steve Logston 15.

COACH Bob Starkey's team led throughout the game and with 1-47 to go in the third period owned a 16-point lead. Morgantown came back but missed in their attempt to overtake the Golden Bears.

Crago turned in a complete game scoring 11 field goals and two fouls while grabbing 17 rebounds. John Roach who contributed but five points was credited with eight assists.

Oak Glen, dominated by a junior lineup, also enjoyed one of its hottest shooting nights hitting 28 of 57 for 49 per cent. Morgantown found they ranged for 35 per cent on 27 of 78.

Bob Gwynne poured in 31 points to pace Morgantown.

The East Liverpool Potters turned in one of their most sparkling performances of the season on the road as they hit a torrid 53 per cent from the field to turn back Martins Ferry, 74-56, Friday night.

The Potters, who are closing out another season with a rush, pushed their current winning string to six and their season record to 11-5.

COACH Clinton McConnell sends his team after its seventh straight night at Warren Western Reserve. While the Potters were winning in good fashion last night, Western Reserve dropped a 65-52 decision to Warren John Kennedy. Western Reserve now has an overall 4-13 record.

Tonight's game at Warren will get under way at 8, following a reserve contest which starts at 6:30.

The Potters never shot as well during a 10-game home stand as they did last night away from home.

THE SCORING punch was delivered by Vern Smith, Mike McVay and Bruce Christian, who combined for 62 points.

Smith, who went into the game averaging 19 per contest, led the way with 23. McVay and Christian followed with 20 and 19, respectively.

CHRISTIAN'S 19 points were his high for the season and the 18 rebounds were a new mark for the 6-4 junior.

Smith, in addition to his scoring, turned in some clever passing to set up tallies as he caught the Martins Ferry defense sleeping on several occasions.

McVay had one of his top scoring nights and continued his consistent brand of basketball. McVay also helped hold the Riders' leading scorer, Dave Reasbeck, to 13 points. Reasbeck had been averaging 20 per contest.

EAST Liverpool took its first big step towards victory No. 11 late in the first period by scoring six straight points, including four by Smith and two by McVay, for a 14-7 margin.

The Potters wound up on top 19-12 at the end of the first quarter, then proceeded to break the game wide open in the second period by outscoring Martins Ferry 17-4 during the first part of the quarter.

AT ONE point in the second period, East Liverpool scored seven straight points to gain a 26-12 margin. The streak came on two goals by Smith, a foul by Earl Diddle and a tip by Christian.

By halftime, East Liverpool led 38-22.

In the third quarter, the Purple Riders could not come any closer than nine points and the Potters maintained a 57-43 margin after three quarters.

MARTINS FERRY opened the fourth quarter by outscoring the Potters 8-2 to cut the lead to 59-51 with 5:30 to go. At this point, the Blue and White delivered the knockout blow reeling off 10 straight points to push the lead to 69-51.

The Riders were led in scoring by Paul Pettit with 17. Reasbeck tallied 13.

Martins Ferry shot 43 per cent from the field, connecting on 20 of 46. The Riders dropped their seventh game in 16 starts and fourth of their last five.

Last night's varsity game was delayed about 40 minutes after the lights in the gymnasium went off during the reserve game due to a power failure.

UCLA Wins 18th; Tigers Survive

"Nobody is kidding nobody. This is a great basketball team and Alcindor is everything we've heard about."

That was Paul Valenti, Oregon State basketball coach, talking Friday night after his

Crestview Game

Moved Up To Tuesday

The Crestview-Greenford basketball game originally scheduled for Friday, Feb. 17 has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 14 at 6:30 p.m. at Crestview. The change was made because of the Class A basketball tournament.

Beavers had absorbed a 76-44 lacing from the top-ranked UCLA Bruins and Lew Alcindor, their 7-foot-1 agile senior sophomore.

A crowd of 12,883 at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion saw Big Lew lead a 16-point spree early in the second half that turned a close game into a rout.

Alcindor scored 22 points, 12 of them in the burst that increased UCLA's lead from 35-30 to 51-35. He was given an ovation when he left the game with 2 1/2 minutes to play and UCLA ahead by 24 points at 66-42.

It was the 18th straight triumph for the unbeaten Bruins and overshadowed the narrow escape from defeat of the Princeton Tigers, fourth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, at the hands of underdog Yale at New Haven.

Yale stormed from behind to wipe out a 14-point deficit and take the lead, but Princeton rallied to tie at 80-80 on Joe Heiser's corner shot and win 81-80 on Gary Walters' free throw in the last 10 seconds. It was Princeton's 18th victory in 19 starts and upped the Tigers' winning streak to 10 in a row.

In other games, Cornell beat Dartmouth 86-71, Penn edged Brown 78-77, Harvard upped Columbia 82-73, Southern California whipped Oklahoma City 108-97, the Air Force surprised Wyoming 61-60, Los Angeles Loyola humbled Santa Clara 84-78, San Francisco overcame Pepperdine 79-73 and Weber State beat Gonzaga 81-78 for its 46th straight home conquest.

Oregon State tried the same ball control tactics used by Southern Cal that nearly upset UCLA in a 40-35 overtime game last Saturday. The Beavers held a 13-12 edge before UCLA took a 26-15 halftime lead on points by Lucius Allen, Alcindor, Bill Swee and Mike Warren.

Rick Stoner, with 27 points, led Yale's comeback that almost upset Princeton. He got 10 of them in a six minute span that brought the Eli from behind a 65-51 score to tie at 74-74 in a virtual duplication of Yale's great rally in a 77-75 loss at Princeton several weeks ago. John Haarlow topped the Tigers with 26 points.

Cornell, building up to its Feb. 18 game with Princeton, kept on the heels of the Tigers in the Ivy League by crushing Dartmouth at Hanover behind Greg Morris' 25 points for the Big Red's seventh straight. Cornell is 7-1 in league play to Princeton's 8-0.

Steve Pearsall's free throws in the last five seconds gave Penn its one-point victory over Brown at Providence. Harvard broke an eight-game losing streak by beating Columbia at Cambridge as sophomores Eric Gustavson and Barth Rover combined for 29 points in the second half.

Bill Hewitt threw in 20 points to lead Southern Cal over Oregon in Los Angeles. Nick Jones got 21 for the Ducks. Soph Larry Cannon scored a career high of 32 points to lead LaSalle over Oklahoma City in Philadelphia. Gary Gray got 23 for the Chiefs.

Fred Budinger's 15-foot jump shot with one second left gave the Air Force its home court triumph over Wyoming. Rick Adelman scored 32 points to lead the Loyola Lions over Santa Clara at San Jose, Calif.

Dennis Black and Art Williams each tallied 22 points to keep San Francisco in contention in the West Coast Athletic Conference as the Dons beat Pepperdine at home. Nolan Archibald's 27 points paced Weber over Gonzaga to move the Wildcats into second place in the Big Sky Conference.

Clay's Lawyer Confident Of Beating Draft

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — The attorney who is handling Cassius Clay's draft appeal says the heavyweight champion will have plenty of time this year to keep his five-title-fights-a-year program.

That means there's hope for Zora Folley, Thad Spencer, George Chualvo and probably either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston. Clay already has beaten Chualvo and Patterson and stopped Liston twice, the last one in the one-punch quickie in Lewiston, Maine.

Hayden Covington, a white attorney who has handled many draft appeals for church groups and individuals, said Friday that "under due process of law Clay couldn't possibly be drafted this year — if he's ever drafted."

Covington said he was confident Clay would win his appeal as a minister for the Black Muslims.

The lawyer, a Texan who has been practicing law in New York since 1939, said the case eventually could go to the Supreme Court and added "We will win" if it does.

Covington and members of Clay's advisory group were with the champion when he made a commentary of the film of his fight with Ernie Terrell for ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Key rounds will be shown on ABC today at 5 p.m. EST.

The film completely cleared Clay of Terrell's charges of fouls and showed that it was the 6-foot-6 Terrell who did all the fouling.

Terrell, who underwent surgery Thursday for an injured left eyeball, accused Clay of poking his thumb in his left eye and rubbing his eye against the ropes in the third round of the title fight at Houston last Monday night.

The beaten fighter, whose left eye was half shut and who was cut over the right eye, said the thumbing caused double vision and was mainly responsible for his defeat.

"I was too fast for him," said Clay, viewing the film. "No wonder he thought he saw two or three of me."

The film shows that Terrell's left eye started swelling in the third round, well before the two wrestled on the ropes, and failed to show any thumbing by Clay.

A barrage of punches and a solid right uppercut to the eye in the third round might have caused the damage to the eye. The film also shows Terrell was guilty of repeated low blows, hitting behind the neck, hitting on the break, butting and palming or heeling — rubbing the palm of his glove against Clay's face.

"While you're looking for my first foul, note that he's fouled me about 90 times," said Clay, who prefers to be known by his Muslim name, Muhammad Ali. Clay apologized for "making the ring a speaking rostrum," for taunting Terrell by asking him "What's my name?" and calling him "an Uncle Tom" among other things.

"But I'm not apologizing for whipping him," added Clay. "I'm out to be cruel — that's what the boxing game is about."

Hornung Leads Saints Stocking

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — When the New Orleans Saints come marching in, Paul Hornung will be leading the combo. And Jim Taylor just might be a member of the group.

Hornung, the former Golden Boy of the Green Bay Packers and Notre Dame, was the big name among the 42 veterans selected Friday by Coach Tom Fears of the New Orleans entry in the National Football League.

Taylor, who played out his option with the Packers in 1966, is due to discuss business with Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi before May 1 when he becomes a free agent. The veteran fullback, a Louisiana State alumnus, would be a natural for the Bayou country.

Although Hornung saw limited service last year and did not play in either the NFL title game or the Super Bowl, Fears is confident he still can play Wood, the New York Giants' No. 42 players from the 11 other NFL teams (Atlanta was exempted) cost about $8.5 million. That breaks down to about $200,000 a player.

Fears and the New Orleans brass, including owner John Mechem Jr., made the picks late Thursday from lists provided by the other clubs. They were announced Friday after the players were notified. Each club was able to freeze 29 players from the 40-man unit that opened the season. New Orleans then took one from each of the 14 teams. Then two more were frozen and the Saints picked two more from each.

It was the same formula used last year to stock the Atlanta club, which wound up with a surprising 3-11 record. Fifteen players picked by the Saints were starters during all or a substantial part of last season. The average age is 26.2 years.

Fears took the only two quarterbacks who were made available when he grabbed Gary Wood, the New York Giants' No. 1 after Earl Morrall was injured, and Bill Kilmer, No. 3 at San Francisco.

People In News

NEW YORK (AP) — The engagement of Joan Dillon, daughter of former Treasury Secretary and Mrs. Douglas Dillon, to Prince Charles of Luxembourg was announced Friday.

Prince Charles, 39, is the younger son of Grand Duchess Charlotte and the Prince of Luxembourg.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Her determination and a federal judge's ingenuity have resulted in American citizenship for 77-year-old Anna Pecteri.

Mrs. Pecteri, a Hungarian, has lived in Toledo for more than 40 years, and has voted the past 22 years, not realizing she was an alien.

She has been seriously ill but when she found out recently she was not a citizen, she was determined to make it to the swearing-in ceremony "even if I had to crawl."

She was able to get into a car Friday for the trip to the federal court house but, once there, was unable to walk to the court room. The law requires that a new citizen must be sworn in open court.

Told of Mrs. Pecteri's plight, U.S. Dist. Judge Donald Young went to the car, declared it an open court, and issued her citizenship oath.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez, the only artificial heart-pump patient to live and resume a normal life, took a six-hour shopping trip Friday in Houston.

Mrs. Vasquez, a Mexico City beautician, was in Houston this week for a routine checkup by the team of doctors who implanted an artificial heart pump six months ago to give her damaged heart a chance to mend.

The women were halted by dozens of well-wishers who recognized Mrs. Vasquez. "We didn't have time to see this wonderful city before. Now we want to look it over," she said.

Castro Gives Chinese

The Silent Treatment

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fidel Castro, whose leanings once were reported teetering between Moscow and Peking, now is giving Red China the silent treatment.

A check today showed that China has not been mentioned this year in any Miami-monitored broadcasts over Cuban radio stations. The broadcasts are controlled by the government.

The name China has been omitted from radio commentaries and newscasts. News of China's internal strife and of the Moscow-Peking rift has not been mentioned. Refugees say Chinese news is not being given in Cuban newspapers either.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The mystery of the abandoned skull has been solved.

Stark County authorities have been told that the skull which someone left in a bus terminal apparently is that of an American Indian who died many, many years ago.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOOKS

ANSWER: Tablets of clay into which marks had been pressed (A) served as books for the scholars of Ninevah and Babylon about 3500 B.C. Later, the Egyptians made long paper scrolls out of papyrus reeds and wrote upon them, a practice also followed by the Greeks and Romans.

By about 300 A.D., animal skin called parchment was being used instead of paper. Monks in monasteries (B) printed beautiful letters by hand, folded the parchment into sheets, put these in groups called "gatherings" and sewed the gatherings together into books. Printing from carved wooden blocks on paper was invented by the Chinese before 770 A.D. There is a Chinese scroll, made in 868 A.D., which is said to be the first printed book.

But the printed book of the kind we know came into being in 1456, when Johannes Gutenberg printed his famous Bible, using the new discovery of movable type. Printing then spread rapidly. By the 1470's printing plants had been set up in many parts of Europe. But 1476, William Caxton was printing in England, and in 1718 Benjamin Franklin began his brilliant career of printing in America.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Feb. 11, the 42nd day of 1967. There are 323 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1946, a year after it was signed, the text of the Yalta agreement made by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Russia's Josef Stalin and Britain's Winston Churchill was made public. In it, the Soviet Union had agreed to declare war on Japan shortly after Germany was defeated.

On this date: In 1776, the first Marine Corps squadron made up of eight ships commanded by Capt. Samuel Nicholas, the first Marine commander, sailed from Reedy Island, Pa., under secret orders.

In 1856, Benito Juarez, Mexican revolutionary leader, became president of Mexico.

In 1920, the first business session of the League of Nations was held in London.

In 1922, the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan signed a treaty limiting the sizes of their navies.

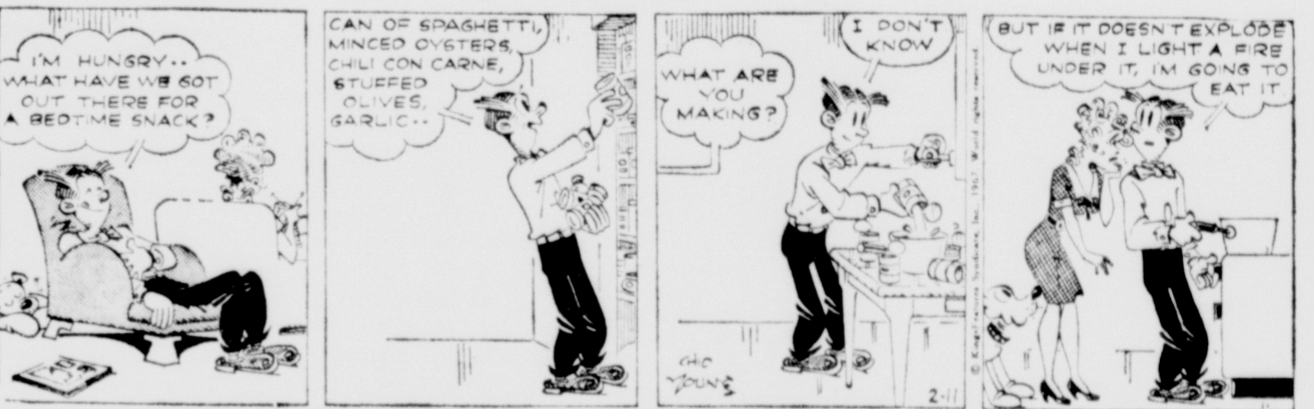

Five years ago—Secret negotiations began in France aimed at ending the uprising against French rule in Algeria. The negotiations produced a preliminary peace accord which both the Algerian nationalist provisional government and the French Cabinet later approved.

One year ago—Vice President Hubert Humphrey on a special presidential mission in South Vietnam forecast eventual victory over the Communists and over poverty.
